FIRST MIDTERM MOCK EXAM - SAMPLE 2

a) In the text below, you will read about one of the stories dealt in class. For blanks 1 to 5, choose the right verb form. For blanks 6 to 10, choose the right connector. (3 points each)

_____/30

In 1934, the Bradburys [1] had settled / settled / were settled in Los Angeles after they [2] moves / were moved / had moved back and forth between Waukegan and Tucson for years. Once in Hollywood, Ray [3] had met / met / was met several professional writers. Bob Olsen, who [4] considered / had considered / was considered one of the best in those times, [5] had become / became / become his mentor.

[6] If / After / Also he joined the Los Angeles Science Fiction Society, he started writing stories on the topic. His very first one was widely criticised. [7] However / Therefore / Besides , "The Martian Chronicles", his first novel, became very popular. [8] Therefore / As / When he wrote Fahrenheit 451, he could revisit themes he had already covered in previous writing. [9] What's more / As / When he decided that writing was the best way to become immortal, he wrote more than 400 short stories and nearly fifty books of different genres; [10] besides / however / therefore , he has become one of the most prolific contemporary American writers.

b) Make Wh- Questions about the following extract. Underline the answers in the text. (7 points each)

_____/35

Hard skills, also called technical skills, are job-specific, relevant to each position and seniority level in any company. In other words, each position in every company will require a unique hard skills list. For example, an accountant needs to know how to reconcile bank statements, but that knowledge is unnecessary for a software developer. At the same time, reconciliation is important for accountants no matter their level of experience, but preparing business budgets is a skill that's not usually required of a junior accountant.

Glossary: Budget: presupuesto

1. What ……?
2. Where……?
3. Who ……?
4. ……?
5. ……?

c) Express yourself: Choose ONE of the topics below and write a 4-sentence paragraph. Include at least two elements from each column below. _____/35

…find it…to	also
…good at…	before
…had discovered…	so
…a breakthrough…	however

1. What is the best invention ever?
2. What are you like? What are your skills and qualities? What are your weak points?

EXAM SCORE:			……/100
96-100 points= 10	76-85 points= 8	66-69 points= 6	50-55 points= 4
86-95 points= 9	70-75 points= 7	56-65 points= 5	0-49 points= 2

KEY

Exercise A - 30 points

1. settled
2. had moved
3. met
4. was considered
5. became
6. After
7. However
8. When
9. As
10. therefore

Exercise B - 35 points

(Sample answers. There may be other possibilities.)

Hard skills, also called [5] technical skills, are job-specific, relevant to each position and seniority level [2] in any company. In other words, each position in every company will require [1] a unique hard skills list. For example, an accountant needs to know [4] how to reconcile bank statements, but that knowledge is unnecessary for [3] a software developer. At the same time, reconciliation is important for accountants no matter their level of experience, but preparing business budgets is a skill that's not usually required of a junior accountant.

1. What will each position in every company require?
2. Where are technical skills required?
3. Who doesn't need to reconcile bank statements?
4. What does an accountant need to know?
5. How are hard skills also called?

Exercise C - 35 points

Students' own answers.